Seen & Heard Around Murray

We don't know exactly how it happened, but we got roped into working on Thanksgiving Day.

All of a sudden there we were peeling sweet potatoes. The next thing we knew there we were at the kitchen sink washing pans. Then we found ourselves slicing the turkey. After dinner was over, there we were pulling all the meat off of the bones and fixing them in little packages to put into the freezer. Then we found ourselves washing up our prize turkey platter that we got from N. B. Ellis when he was in business here. The next thing we knew we were putting odds and ends in the refrigerator.

We don't know how wives work things like this but we would rate them as expert psychologists or psychiatrists, or maybe they are just good executives.

We did so much work we hardly had time to view Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade, see five football games, and eat a big Thanksgiving Day dinner.

We saw Detroit and Minnesota in a driving snow storm, Kansas City and somebody play in a cold but brilliantly clear day, and some more folks meet indoors in the Astro Dome.

Some people do not know how to say "thank you". For some reason using these words carries a connotation, to them, of belittling themselves. You will never hurt anyone's feelings by saying thank you.

When a diner complained that he couldn't eat the soup that had been brought him, the waiter called the manager. "I'm very sorry, sir," said the manager, "I'll call the chef." When the chef arrived, the diner still insisted that he couldn't eat his soup. "What's wrong with it?" demanded the chef. "Nothing," calmly answered the diner, "I just don't have a spoon."

A crisis can be a painful thing. However, Chinese wisdom shows that good also can be derived from a crisis. Crisis in Chinese is made of two separate characters — one stands for danger — the other opportunity.

We see in the news that a new canteen, cup and cover has been developed for the army at a cost of $68,550.

Seems that the old canteen does not hold enough water for jungle fighting so it has been increased from one quart to two quarts and also it is collapsible.

We favored the old canteen cup, the one with the flared edge. We have enjoyed many a canteen cup of coffee out of these durable cups, and heated many a cup of water for bouillon cubes.

A new one came out with a rolled edge and this has set off the screaming out epithets against the army in particular and the world in general. This rolled edge around the cup attracted the heat from the coffee and it was twice as hot as any other part of the cup including the coffee. Sort of like placing a heavy spoon in hot gravy, all the heat rushes to the spoon.

One soon learned to lift this rolled edge cup to his lips gingerly and sip coffee over the edge of it to cool it off. The uninitiated always got burned lips.

This collapsible idea may work as long as it does not collapse at the wrong time.

LOSE LICENSES

Two Calloway Countians lost their drivers licenses last week according to the Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee of the Kentucky Department of Public Safety. Roy Earl Ballentine, age 22, of Route Five, lost his license for driving on a revoked license and Richard Payne, 50, of Murray had his operator's license suspended for driving while intoxicated.

Painting By Rubens To Be On Exhibit

A painting, "News of the Death of Joseph" attributed to Rubens, will be on display at the Murray Art Guild, during the Christmas Open House being held Sunday, December 7th, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. The artist, Rubens, lived and painted in the early 1600's and is counted among the masters. The painting is being exhibited by courtesy of the owner, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Williams. Williams is publisher of the Ledger & Times of Murray.

The painting was purchased about 60 years ago by James M. Cowan of Aurora, Illinois. When he died, his niece, Mrs. W. P. Williams of Paris, Tennessee inherited the painting along with 100 other originals. She distributed them among her 7 children and Mr. Williams received "News of the Death of Joseph" among others.

The signature of the artist is missing from the painting and there is a legend that the painting was stolen from Holland. The thief, fearful of being caught with a Rubens, tore off the bottom of the painting which contained Rubens' signature. It has been judged a Rubens because of the characteristics of the artist's style.

This will be the third annual Christmas Open House by the Murray Art Guild, and there will be a great variety of new paintings on display by the members.

Many members have just concluded a series of art lessons conducted by Mrs. Gene Geur-in. Through lessons, sharing ideas, and observation of one another, members of the Guild are constantly improving their talent. Many members have improved so much that their work when entered in competition, is placed in the professional category. More important, all the members enjoy painting and there is sure to be something for everyone to enjoy.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Open House, to leisurely enjoy the paintings and refreshments.

Green Berets Drive Off Red Assault

By BERT W. OKULEY
SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Green Berets and South Vietnamese troops drove off an assault by explosive-hurling Communist attackers at Bu Prang today. In the Mekong Delta, South Vietnamese forces killed 56 Viet Cong in intense fighting.

Although the Bu Prang special forces camp 112 miles north-east of Saigon has been bombarded by North Vietnamese gunners almost daily for more than a month, it was the first direct assault. The Communist force charged, tossing explosive charges as they ran after more than 100 rounds of rocket, mortar and artillery fire into the camp.

None of the 14 U.S. Green Berets or 40 Army artillerymen at the camp was injured, military sources said. South Vietnamese casualties were light.

Viet Cong Active
The fighting in the Mekong delta far to the south broke out near My Tho, 46 miles south-west of Saigon. The battle cost South Vietnamese forces 18 men killed and 31 wounded.

Intelligence reports said the 263rd Viet Cong main force battalion is active in the region, an area of rice paddies and mangrove swamps.

A week ago 52 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in fighting in the populous area.

Pre-Christmas Offensive
The defenders at Bu Prang opened up with intense fire to drive off the attackers, who fled with unknown losses.

Official sources said the North Vietnamese want to overrun Bu Prang before Christmas. More than 5,000 Communist troops are said to be massed in the thickly-jungled highlands around the outpost.

Five Communist troops were reported killed early today when they attacked a night position of a South Vietnamese militia unit 600 yards east of the camp.

Chamber Orchestra To Present Concert

Murray State University's Chamber Orchestra will present a concert December 2 at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Building on campus.

Directed by H. L. Blair, professor of violin and viola at Murray State since 1965, the orchestra is made up of people in the university community — students, professors, and people in professions other than music. The program will feature the following selections: "Overture to Rodiolinda" by G. F. Handel; "Symphony in Bb (flat)" by Boccherini; and "Sinfonia in D Major" by J. C. Bach.

There will be no admission charged. The orchestra had been directed by Price Doyle and Dr. Richard W. Farrell before Mr. Blair took it over. There are four to six chamber orchestra concerts a year plus a children's concert.

Traffic Accidents Kill Six Per Hour

by United Press International
Americans were dying in traffic accidents at the rate of six an hour as the next-to-last day of the long Thanksgiving weekend began.

A United Press International count at 3 a.m. EST today showed 312 persons killed in traffic mishaps since the start of the holiday period at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

A breakdown of accidental deaths showed:
Traffic 312
Planes 14
Fire 24
Miscellaneous 27
Total 377

California had the highest state death toll, 34. Georgia had 21, Texas 20 and New York 16.

A spokesman for the National Safety Council said the death toll seemed to be "just about on par for the course."

The council estimated before the holiday that as many as 800 persons would die in traffic. Last year's Thanksgiving weekend toll was 764.

The holiday period ends at midnight Sunday.

Chorus To Present Christmas Music

The Music Department Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Josiah Darnell, will present a program at the Murray Women's clubhouse on Monday, December 1, at 7:00 p.m., according to Mrs. Vernon Shown.

Mrs. Vernon Shown

According to Mrs. Vernon Shown, chairman of the Music Department of the Murray Woman's Club.

The forty-five minute program will include several small groups and solos as well as choral numbers.

Mrs. John C. Winter and Mrs. Richard Farrell will accompany the group as pianists.

A reception will be held in the basement of the club house immediately following the program of holiday music.

White House Conference to Meet At MSU

Newly-elected and incumbent public officials in eight West Kentucky counties will be special guests December 8 at a Region I Forum of Kentucky's White House Conference on Children and Youth, to be held at Murray State University.

Purpose of the forum, according to Miss Rubie E. Smith, is to familiarize public officials with the needs of the area's children and youth as determined by community study groups in the various counties during the past several weeks.

Miss Smith is chairman of the Executive Committee of Region I and chairman of the elementary education department at Murray State.

The forum, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the new auditorium of the Murray State University School on North 16th Street. Coffee will be available at 7 p.m. for early arrivals.

Presiding will be Mrs. Mildred Peak, Mayfield, forum chairman, with the program period devoted to a symposium on the needs of the Region's young people. Gerald Miller, regional librarian, Murray, is the liaison chairman.

Invitations are being extended to local officials in Ballard, Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Marshall and McCracken Counties.

Newly-elected state legislative officials expected to attend include: Representatives Ralph Graves, Bardwell; Guy Lovins, Murray; Richard Lewis, Benton; Lloyd Clapp, Wingo; and Julian Carroll and David Carter, Paducah.

Senators: Carroll Hubbard, Mayfield; Pat McCuiston, Pembroke, and Tom Garrett, Paducah.

Fair Weather For Weekend

By United Press International
Generally fair and dry weather prevailed over the nation today.

Two high-pressure systems restricted precipitation to a little light rain in southern Texas and the Carolinas and to light snow or snow flurries in Michigan. There was also some snow in the higher elevations of southern New Mexico and in southwestern Texas.

Hazardous driving warnings remained in effect for the higher elevations west of the Pecos in southwest Texas, due to the occasional snow.

The two sprawling high-pressure systems also brought below normal temperatures to nearly all sections of the nation.

Mild 60-degree weather early today was limited to the southern California coast and southern and Central Florida, with low 70s reported in the Florida Keys.

Temperatures at 2 a. m. EST today ranged from 10 at Evanston and Laramie, Wyo., to 71 at Key West, Fla.

In the Northwest, Washington and Oregon continued under a shroud of low cloudiness and fog.

El Paso, Tex., recorded a six-inch blanket of snow Friday, while at Toyah, Tex., in the Jeff Davis Mountains, at least 12 inches of snow covered the ground.

New Concord Honor Roll Is Released

The honor roll for New Concord Elementary School has been released and is as follows:
Fourth Grade — Mitzi Redick, Debra Stanley, John Brinkley, Lesia James.

Fifth Grade — Lisa Alderson, Linda McCuiston, Sharon McKinney, Cindy Williams, Harold Bucy, Ronald Gibson, Stephen McCuiston, Phillip Zacheretti.

"The Outstanding Civic Asset of a Community is the Integrity of its Newspaper"

SATURDAY — NOVEMBER 29, 1969

STRAIGHT NEWS

We are 100 per cent in favor of Vice-president Agnew's statements concerning the objectivity of news reporting by the major television networks.

He has not suggested censorship by any stretch of the imagination. He has merely urged that the television stations define the point as to whether they are reporting news or whether they are giving an "analysis".

We do not agree with his objections to the critique which is held following a speech by the president where several commentators give their ideas about what the president meant by a given speech. This is obviously merely the opinion of the commentator who is speaking and is billed as nothing more. This is an exercise of our free speech-free press concept. One does not have to agree with the commentator and can formulate his own ideas as to what the president means in a certain speech.

Some of the most popular commentators, in giving the news, editorialize blatantly throughout the broadcast, and this is what we are opposed to. If editorial opinion is given on television, then it should be so labeled. We object to editorial slanted news on TV also. We feel the viewer has enough common sense and intelligence to formulate his own opinions without the aid of Mr. Huntley or Mr. Brinkley.

When we turn on the news, we want the news, unvarnished, unembellished, unretouched. We feel it should be as objective as possible.

We feel that this is what Vice-president Agnew had in mind when he scored the major networks. He does not desire censorship any more than do the network executives.

Whit Young To Speak At Western U.

Dr. Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, will be the second speaker of the Western Kentucky University lecture series, and will appear at 8 p.m., Dec. 9, in the ballroom of the Paul L. Garrett Student Center.

The topic of his lecture will be "The Urban Crisis: Challenge and Opportunity." Western's Graduate College will act as host to Dr. Young and he will be introduced by Dr. Norman A. Deeb, associate professor of education and director of the human relations center of the University.

Dr. John D. Minton, dean of the graduate school, will preside and Dr. Raytha L. Yokley, professor of sociology, will moderate a question and answer period at the reception which follows the lecture.

Dr. Young assumed his present position in 1961, climaxing seven years of Urban League service. He also served for seven years as dean of the Atlanta University School of Social Work.

Born in Kentucky, he attended Lincoln Institute near Shelbyville and was graduated from Kentucky State College in 1941.

After service in the army, he did graduate work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Minnesota, from which he received the master's degree in 1947. During the academic year 1960-61 he was a visiting scholar at Harvard University.

Dr. Young is president-elect of the National Association of Social Workers and past president of the National Conference on Social Welfare. He has also served on seven national commissions of the last two presidential administrations and is

Women should duck boxing

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our group is comprised of women who are interested in learning to wrestle and box for fun and amusement. We are not advocating bouts between men and women, but we wouldn't refuse such encounters if they were to arise.

The girls wear bathing suits and work out on the mats in the health studio. We want to know if there is any "danger factor" in this kind of sport for women? This is not a put-on. We are sincerely interested in a serious reply.

MILWAUKEE

DEAR MILWAUKEE: My medical authorities agreed that repeated blows in the area of the breasts CAN be dangerous to women, so unless some kind of protective covering is worn, you'd better skip the boxing.

As for wrestling, you can bend each other into pretzels if you like, but co-ed bouts are not recommended.

DEAR ABBY: I will never have the same problem again with the person involved in this one, because she will never be invited to another meal at my house, but please tell me what I SHOULD HAVE done.

I entertained at my home for dinner one evening. It was rather informal, and I placed the hot dish in the center of the table. Well, one of the women had several helpings, after which she took her fork and started to eat right out of the serving dish! While we sat and talked, she kept picking away.

Of course, I was flattered that my food tasted so good to her, but why she didn't just take another serving is beyond me. I said nothing. Just fumed. I would have corrected my granddaughters had they done such a thing. What should I have done?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: You should have said [when she first put her fork into the serving dish], "PLEASE have another serving." If she declined and later made another expedition with her fork, you should have very emphatically GIVEN her another serving. Your message would have been clear. And you'd have saved yourself a lot of fuming.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old. When I was not yet 15, I got pregnant, and the boy skipped town. I had a baby girl, and she is now 8 months old.

My problem is my parents. They kept the baby and are raising her to believe that THEY are her Mom and Daddy and that I am her big sister.

Abby, I don't think this is right. I want my baby to know that I am her mother. My mother says this will embarrass the baby when she grows up, and it's better this way. My mother is very possessive. She hardly lets me near the baby. I think my mother acts this way because I am her only child, and she never could have any more after me.

Please tell me what to do.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Unfortunately, you are not much more than a child yourself now, but you are a mother and have some rights. Talk to your minister, doctor, or lawyer so that SOMEONE will know the true parentage of the child, should you decide to file a valid claim upon her later. For the present, finish your education and try to become the kind of woman your child will be proud to call "Mother" if and when you decide in due time to set her straight.

DEAR ABBY: Less than a week ago, I went to my little girl's school to see a preview of a program called "FAMILY LIFE." The parents of all the students were invited to acquaint themselves with the course they intended to give their children, and to voice their opinions, pro or con.

I approved heartily, and had no objections whatsoever to my 10-year-old taking such a course. But what appalled me was the pitifully small number of parents who attended. Shame on all of you who didn't show up! Especially those among you who sit home and gripe about the "evils" of sex education in the schools, when you don't even bother to come to school and find out what's being taught. Sign me

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

Isn't it wonderful that we have such an abundance of berries! I realized this fact anew a day or so ago when I walked around the flower beds where only a couple of weeks ago there were blooming plants. Now there is nothing but the blackened bushes of marigolds, hibiscus and geraniums, as well as roses caught in the freeze. But the pyracantha, the hollies, euonymus, mahonias and other berry bearing plants are so bright and lovely that we are made to realize that no matter what the season, good or bad, there is something beautiful to see.

You will find yourself all set for the big day. Decide on your greenery, but wait until a few days before Christmas to bring it in. Soak it well in water, keep it away from fire or radiators, so you can enjoy a safe holiday season.

Begin making your decorations now, there are so many lovely things to make. Of course I love the red and green, but whatever your favorite color, use it lavishly. This is one season there can hardly be too much beauty and freshness.

Those of you who have a nativity scene, get it out lovingly and give it a prominent place. If you have none, please do get one, if only a small set and an inexpensive one. For there is nothing that will bring to the minds of children and grown-ups alike the true reason we commemorate Christmas Day.

This doesn't sound like a garden column today, but I simply got carried away by the approaching season. Oh, How I do love Christmas and all it means.

Let us pray that it will not be too long before all our boys may be home from foreign soil to celebrate the day with their loved ones.

God's gift to us creates in our hearts the desire to respond, giving of ourselves, to families and to the unfortunate who have so little.

It is a glorious season, a time for happiness and joy. So let us get our hearts ready first, so that necessary items fall in their right places. Begin your plans now, so that when Christmas day comes

The green of the pines and magnolias are brought out in sharp relief with the bare branches of the trees. Some of the oaks are holding their leaves and will still hold on to some of them next spring when the new ones push them off.

Yesterday was Thanksgiving Day, the one day of the year set aside for one purpose only, that of giving thanks to our Maker for the beauty, the food and the abundance of His bounty in so many ways. But let's not stop with that one day. For each morning, the song of a bird, the sound of the wind through the trees, the sight of a squirrel scampering across the yard, the crunch of leaves underfoot, the laugh of a child, and a million other little things give us reason to stop and say, "Thank You."

Now the most wonderful season of the year approaches. Nothing gives quite the thrill of readying ourselves for the time of giving, of getting, of sharing, of loving, and living again the mystery of Santa and the greatest mystery of all time the incarnate birth of the Savior of mankind. There is no reason in my mind why these two things cannot go together.

Gamecocks Eye Championship

By DAVID MOFFIT

ATLANTA (UPI)—Frank McGuire thinks his South Carolina Gamecocks can win the national college basketball championship. But they'll have to beat North Carolina, where McGuire won a national title back in 1957, to prove it.

There's no denying South Carolina looks like a champion. But, as McGuire has often complained, no matter how well an Atlantic Coast Conference team does during the season, one loss in the ACC Tournament and you can forget the NCAA crown.

That's what happened to McGuire's "super sophs plus one" last season. They got bumped out of the ACC Tournament by a Duke team they had beaten twice.

North Carolina, featuring Charlie Scott, took care of Duke and made it to the NCAA semifinals before being stopped by Purdue which, of course, then lost to UCLA.

Tourney Held At New Concord

New Concord Elementary School held its annual intramural basketball tournament on November 20 with the Second grade defeating the first grade 14 to 8. The Fourth grade defeated the Third grade 22 to 11 while the Fifth grade won over the Sixth grade 19 to 16.

Prior to the opening game the Junior Basketball King and Queen were crowned. Attendees from the Fourth grade were Patricia McKinney and David Meyers; Third grade Tammy Lax and Kenneth McCusick; Second grade, Monty Wilson and Jim Williams.

The King and Queen came from the First grade. They were Queen Shonna Wilhite and King Kim Weatherford.

Miss Debra Chadwick, last year's queen was present to crown the new King and Queen.

Expects Improvement

The way McGuire sees it, South Carolina should be a lot better than last year's 21-7 team.

All of last year's starters are back. That includes John Roche, the ACC Player of the Year who averaged 23.6 points, and 6-foot-10 Tom Owens who led the ACC in rebounding. Add 6-foot-10 sophomore Tom Riker who averaged 26.6 points and 18.3 rebounds with the frosh and McGuire figures that's enough to go all the way—especially since Lew Alcindor is no longer at UCLA.

Actually, North Carolina, even with Scott back, figures to be the fourth best team in the South.

Kentucky, the Southeastern Conference favorite, and Davidson, in a class alone in the otherwise weak Southern Conference, are the 2-3 choices.

Maravich in Spotlight Barring a major surprise, it's a seemingly safe bet that the South's top individual player will be "Pistol Pete" Maravich of Louisiana State — back for his senior season.

"Pistol Pete" scored 1,138 points as a sophomore and then topped that with 1,148 as a junior. He needs only 688 more to become the most prolific scorer in major college history. Maravich has a fantastic 44-point average for his first two varsity seasons.

The best independents in the South could be unheralded Jacksonville (Fla.) University. The Dolphins, 17-7 a year ago, have two 7-footers and eight others who are 6-5 or better.

Atlantic Coast South Carolina, North Carolina, Duke, The Gamecocks and the Tar Heels probably will dominate regular season play but don't forget that one-loss-and-you're-out tournament rule.

Duke's new coach Bucky Waters, head man at West Virginia last year, really believes the Blue Devils can be a contender if Randy Denton and Dick DeVenzio are consistent. Norm Sloan has most of his '69 team back at North Carolina State and says he's got the sort of sophomores that can make the Wolfpack the ACC dark horse.

Wake Forest was 18-9 last year and bears watching but you can forget about Clemson, Maryland and Virginia.

Southeastern Adolph Rupp's hopes of retiring at Kentucky with his fifth NCAA crown were jolted this summer when Mike Casey was injured in an automobile accident. But Rupp, who had only one senior on last year's 23-5 squad, still has Dan Issel and Mike Pratt and some fine looking sophomores.

If Kentucky falters, the SEC race should be between Vanderbilt, paced by Perry Wallace, and Tennessee, led by Bobby Croft. Auburn, featuring John Mengelt and sophomore Henry Harris, considers itself the conference dark horse.

Georgia has 6-11 Bob Lienhard and some flashy outside shooters. Florida lost big Neal Walk but has Andy Owens. Coach Tommy Bartlett insists the Gators won't be out of the running if 6-10 Gary Waddell's back improves.

Maravich hasn't made LSU a contender before and, even though he'll pack them in everywhere he plays, he can't do it alone this time, either. Alabama, Mississippi and Mississippi State? No.

Southern Davidson, 27-3 last year, is willing to match its front three of Mike Maloy, Doug Cook and Jerry Kroll against anyone. But Terry Holland, who succeeded Lefty Driesell as coach, must come up with an effective guard duo to compete nationally.

The rest of the league will be battling for second place seeding in the season-end tournament, where the same rule as the ACC applies but where Davidson doesn't appear in danger.

East Carolina, Furman, Richmond and George Washington are considered about on par with each other and The Citadel, William & Mary and Virginia Military bringing up the rear again.

Independents Jacksonville University plays most of the other major Southern independents this winter so it shouldn't take long to get a line on the tall and reportedly talented Dolphins.

The Dolphins' biggest challenge for independent honors should come from Florida State which has a real all-star candidate in 6-foot-10, 230-pound Dave Cowens who averaged 20.3 points and 17.5 rebounds while pacing the Seminoles to an 18-8 mark last year.

Miami, 14-10 last season, has an outstanding individual performer in junior Don Currutt who averaged 27.5 last season.

Georgia Tech, which didn't even break even at 12-13, also has one of the South's top stars — 6-9 junior Rich Yunkus who averaged 24.1 point.

SEASON'S DEBUT. The Fillies, Murray State University's precision-drill team, will formally open their second season December 1 at the Tennessee Wesleyan basketball game. OVC Champs Take On Tennessee Wesleyan

Murray State will open its basketball season Dec. 1 at home with Tennessee Wesleyan.

Champions of the Ohio Valley Conference for the last two seasons, the Racers have been picked to top the league again this year by OVC coaches.

All five starters from last year's team which compiled a 22-6 record are back but two valuable reserves, Jim Stocks and Ron Romani, graduated. Coach Cal Luther says that the major problem for his Racers will likely be depth. "We should be deep enough at guard but let us lose a couple of front court men on fouls and we're in trouble," Luther said. A knee injury has already sidelined one Racer, guard Frank Streety, for the season opener and perhaps for all of December. Streety, a part time starter last season, averaged 6.6 points.

Starters for Murray against Tennessee Wesleyan will likely be the same five who started most of last season—Claude Virden and Hector Blondet at forwards; Ron Johnson at center; and Don Funneman and Jim Young at guards. Virden, the OVC's "Player of the Year" last season, averaged 23.5 points; Blondet, an all-conference player, averaged 14.6; Young 11.2; Johnson 10.5; and Funneman 6.2.

The Racers warmed up for Wesleyan by trouncing the Murray freshmen 103-73 last Monday. Blondet topped the team in scoring in the game with 21 points. Young had 18, Virden 13, Gary Stevenson 12, and Steve Riley 10.

Luther said he was quite pleased with his team's fast break but was disappointed with its defense and ball handling. "Our defense wasn't nearly as good as I had hoped and we made far too many floor errors," he said.

Tennessee Wesleyan has seven lettermen but one starter back from last year's team which had a 14-7 record. The returning starter is all-conference guard Kelly Aldridge who averaged 20.3 points. Other returning squadmen are guard Jimmy Hamilton, forwards Bruce Mullins and Dick Slack, and center Hurman Shelton.

The game will begin at 7:30 p. m. The freshmen will play Lambuth College in a 5 o'clock preliminary.

YEOMAN SIGNED

HOUSTON (UPI)—Head football coach Bill Yeoman has been signed to a new five year contract by the University of Houston with a substantial raise according to university authorities.

The West Point graduate is 7-2 this season and his team is headed for the Astro-Blue Bonnet Bowl, the first major bowl invitation the school ever received.

NORTH SOUTH

MIAMI (UPI)—Coach Charlie Tate of the University of Miami and Florida State coach Bill Peterson has been named as coaches of the South team for the Shrine North-South college All-Star Christmas Day Orange Bowl game.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue has already been named as a North coach. Another North coach will be named later.

COACHES HIRED

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (UPI)—The Minnesota Twins have announced the acquisition of two new coaches and the reappointment of another.

The Twins said that former New York Yankee coach Frank Crosetti, who was with Seattle last year would take over as third base coach and that Marv Grissom, a coach with the Chicago White Sox last year would handle the pitchers.

Vern Morgan will return as the Twins first-base coach, a club spokesman said.

Teen-age Contraceptive Counseling Service Sponsored At San Francisco

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—If the stork wore a coat he'd probably be laughing at a sleeve over adults—from church, school, home—Enclosed in first-cuts over whose job it is to educate youngsters about sex.

In this era of sexuality at an early age he goes about flapping his wings the usual way—never minding to read the ages of boys and girls involved. Many gynecologists see the results of no sex education. One of these, Dr. William B. Thompson, assistant professor of gynecology at the University of California at Irvine, made a "painful decision" after seeing four girls, 12, very pregnant—and also very unaware of the fact.

Prescribes For Minors
His decision involved departing from past precepts and writing prescriptions for oral contraceptives for minors.

The youngest recipient for such a prescription: 10 years and six months of age.

His philosophy and that of other gynecologists following a similar trail: prevent the tragedy of an unwanted pregnancy in a young girl.

The West Coast, of course, has no corner on unwanted pregnancies among minors or more than its share of sexually active teen-agers. But it does seem to be in the lead when it comes to doing something to prevent such pregnancies.

In San Francisco, for example, there is a teen-age contraceptive counseling service sponsored by Planned Parenthood of San Francisco.

Dr. Sadja Goldsmith, director, reporting in the journal "Planned Parenthood Perspectives," says the clinic meets two days a week in the after-school hours. Any girl who walks through the doors is served—provided she is under 18.

Boyfriends Welcome
If girls call in advance, they are told that boyfriends are welcome at the group discussion—first phase of the service.

At the discussion common misconceptions about sex and birth control are examined. Methods of contraception and how they work are followed by a discussion of the male and female reproductive systems.

During the two years the service has operated, 22 of the 500 girls who wanted contraception stopped using birth control because they were no longer sexually active. There were, in addition, 10 unplanned pregnancies—two due to failure of contraceptive methods.

The attitude at the clinic is non-judgmental.

Dr. Goldsmith said the job of helping the girl to set standards for her conduct generally has been done earlier in her life by her family environment.

"We felt," she said, "that these girls will be more receptive to a straight message of responsible contraception than a mixed message such as—don't do it, but if you do do it, do it with this."

By United Press International
Breakfasts should be balanced with a food from each of the four food groups—fruits and vegetables, bread and cereals, milk and milk products, and meat.

Simulated leathers are of two kinds—polyurethane coated fabrics that can be dyed, and expanded vinyl that must be wetcleaned or wiped off. It's important to know which type you buy. For example, if you purchased a garment made of a fabric that needed drycleaning and the leather trim was a wetclean-only kind, you'd be in trouble. No matter how they're cleaned, real or imitation leathers will wear longer if they have the proper care. Leave the stain removal to the professional leather-cleaning specialist.

Carpets and rugs stay looking their best with proper care. Vacuum traffic areas every day to remove loose particles close to the surface. Vacuum the entire carpet at least once a week.

A new ashtray is a showpiece as well as a highly useful accessory. Made of heavy cast brass with the 12 signs of the zodiac pictured on it, the ashtray with designs inlaid in enamel comes in striking colors. The ashtray is seven inches across.

Mrs. Dailey Gives Book Study At The Crider Home

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Elm Grove Baptist Church held a book study at the home of Mrs. Albert Crider on Tuesday, November 25, at ten o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Paul Dailey, Sr., was the guest speaker and gave a most interesting and informative study on the book, "Sons of Ishmael: How Shall They Hear", as a part of the week of prayer for foreign missions.

At the noon hour the group went to the Colonial House Smorgasbord for a delightful luncheon.

Those present were Mesdames Mae Williams, Pearl Moore, Brigham Futrell, Alvin Futrell, Mason Thomas, Dick Futrell, Wilbur Weston, Robert Weston, Hardin Morris, Earl Lee, Thannie Parker, George Causey, Albert Crider, and Harry Shekell.

Ruth Ann Barrow Presides At Meet Of The Hazel YWA

The Hazel Baptist YWA met in the home of Mrs. Danny Outland November 24. Ruth Ann Barrow, president, presided at the meeting.

Reports of mission activities for the month were given. The call to prayer was given by Peggy Forbes and Sandra Bramlett. Carol Russell led in a special prayer for the missionaries.

Members participated in an informal discussion concerning the beliefs and conviction of Christians and their involvement in today's world.

Refreshments were served to those present and the discussion was continued. Mrs. Danny Outland led in the closing prayer.

Members present were: Debbie Miller, Jackie Dunlap, Peggy Forbes, Sandra Bramlett, Carol Russell, Ruth Ann Barrow, Carol Barrow and Mrs. Danny Outland.

A new coffeemaker eliminates a host of problems, particularly the threat of coffee boiling over. It is an automatic percolator for brewing coffee away from the stove without electrical wires or additional heat. A special patented element retains heat to keep coffee hot for over an hour.

Use Imagination For Special Gifts As Persons Shop For The Christmas Season

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Making your Christmas gift list and finding blanks beside names of persons who are hard to please?

How about shopping for a sphygmomanometer or any other unusual thing bound to make conversation, stir curiosity and perhaps require imagination in the use?

The Christmas gift book and ads already are full of descriptions of such tokens of appreciation.

This sphygmomanometer costs $10.50 and it's used to take blood pressure readings. If the shortage of doctors gets worse, this gadget may even have a practical use in 1970.

Also medical is a $2.25 item billed as "fascinating and educational for kids and adults." The item? A stethoscope.

Some Are Pig-in-a-Poke
Some gifts are the pig-in-a-poke variety. In this class is a $3.50 weight control kit. It contains, according to the ad, "10 carefully selected items to help reduce weight and increase humor."

If money's a problem, for just $2 you can get a warning sticker that goes on the door, proclaiming: "Warning! Kappa Delta Sorority Hosts Tea Sunday"

Kappa Delta Sorority of Murray State University was the host of a tea held Sunday afternoon, November 23, 1969, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Kappa Delta Room in the Panhellenic Building. Assisting the sorority were alumnae Mrs. James Kerlick, Miss Maxine McCants, Mrs. David Gowans, and Mrs. V. W. Alexander.

The invited guests were: Mrs. Morris Baucum, Mrs. Peter Sweers, Mrs. Eugene Hurn, Mrs. Ruth Sexton, Mrs. Max Carman, Mrs. Walker Blackburn, Mrs. Holmes Ellis, Mrs. Eddie Farmer, Mrs. Alfred Lindsey, Mrs. Charles Outland, Mrs. Ralph Slow, Miss Ann Carr, Mrs. David Lanier, Mrs. Earl Douglass, Mrs. Rex Galloway, Mrs. W. C. Elkins, Mrs. Clifford Eubanks, Mrs. James Lassiter, Dr. Alta Presson, Mrs. John Irvin, and Mrs. James Weatherly.

Guests were from Paducah, Reidland, Marshall County, Mayfield, and Embury Clubs. Other guests were Mrs. Joyce Thomas, Miss Frances Whitnell, and Virginia Thicksten of Jackson, Tenn.

New officers elected were Kirt Stubblefield, president, Charles Eaker, vice-president, Cindy Williams, secretary, Glenda Eaker, reporter, Robert Brelaford, treasurer, Danny Chadwick, game leader, and Larry Fitzhugh, song leader.

The group voted for each one to bring a gift for Western State Hospital to the next meeting on December 11.

The brother of Abraham Lincoln's wife, George R. Clark Todd, was a surgeon in the Confederate Army.

Protected by electronic automatic alarm system. There is no alarm system to go with the sign but if it helps, the sign's authentic.

Other favorites among things I've seen is a flashlight with a siren and a dog collar that glows in the dark. The former does the screaming for you in a mugging situation. And the latter helps Flido to be seen by motorists at night.

Things for the kitchen abound in catalogues. People who allegedly miss everything all through the house probably don't have a stripper, zester, fluter, or notcher in the kitchen—so a gift of any of these things will be appreciated, once you explain how it's used.

Removes Rind
The stripper takes the colored rind from citrus fruits in one continuous spiral. The zester shaves carrots. The fluter puts those ridges across a cucumber, zucchini or potato when you slice it.

The notcher is a V-shaped blade that enables one to separate fruits into perfect, evenly notched halves.

Even those who seem to have everything for the kitchen probably don't have a cooler for caviar. Not one made of English lead crystal and silver plate. A mere $45.

If caviar isn't on the premises, the recipient of this item certainly can use it as a centerpiece—filled with flowers.

Explorers 4-H Club Elects Officers
The New Concord Explorers 4-H Club held its regular meeting on November 13 at the school.

New officers elected were Kirt Stubblefield, president, Charles Eaker, vice-president, Cindy Williams, secretary, Glenda Eaker, reporter, Robert Brelaford, treasurer, Danny Chadwick, game leader, and Larry Fitzhugh, song leader.

The group voted for each one to bring a gift for Western State Hospital to the next meeting on December 11.

The brother of Abraham Lincoln's wife, George R. Clark Todd, was a surgeon in the Confederate Army.

Short Shots From The Land Between The Lakes

The forested hills of Land Between the Lakes will echo with the clear bell of scores of coonhounds this weekend as the first of nine 2-day hunts for racoon and opossum kicks off Friday and Saturday, November 28 and 29. Last year four weekend hunts were held. The hunting hours are from 5 p.m. to midnight, and all portions of Land Between the Lakes are open EXCEPT THE CONSERVATION EDUCATION CENTER and areas otherwise posted. In contrast to last year's regulations, there will be no check-in and check-out stations this year. Only .22 calibre rifles using rimfire ammunition and shotguns are permitted for these hunts. There is no limit on raccoons or opossums in the Kentucky portion of the area. In the Tennessee portion the limit on raccoons is one per hunter per night with no limit on opossums. The second weekend hunt will be December 12 and 13, and hunts will be held every following Friday and Saturday through January 31. A Land Between the Lakes small game hunting permit is required to participate in the hunts. The permits can be acquired at no charge by presenting your hunting license at the information office in Golden Pond or at Center Station in the Conservation Education Center.

The quail and rabbit seasons in both the Kentucky and Tennessee portions of Land Between the Lakes opened Monday, November 24, and will run through January 31. Food plots of milo, corn, soybeans, buckwheat, and other grains have been planted throughout the area to provide better habitat for quail, rabbit, deer, waterfowl, and other wildlife.

The Land Between the Lakes quota gun hunt for deer on November 21 and 22 was the most successful ever with 131 deer being taken. The "bucks only" hunt produced 113 whitetail and 18 fallow deer. Ernest Littlejohn of Golden Pond, Kentucky, bagged the biggest whitetail buck, weighing 197 pounds field dressed. Alvin Sartore, 1810 Alta Vista Drive, Evansville, Indiana, checked in a trophy fallow buck weighing 155 pounds field dressed. Last year 117 deer were taken during the 2-day hunt.

The Eagles Have Arrived
Several bald and golden eagles

The gun and archery deer season in the Tennessee portion of Land Between the Lakes will be held Friday and Saturday, December 5 and 6. The hunt for whitetail bucks only with antlers visible above the hairline is open to all hunters who have a Tennessee license and a big game stamp. Land Between the Lakes hunting permits can be acquired on the mornings of the hunt at the checking stations located in the maintenance shop in the former community of Model, Tennessee, and at the intersection of the Trace and the Blue Spring Road. All hunters must check in and out each time they enter or leave the hunting area, and any deer taken must be checked out. The checking stations will be open from 4 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Over 47,000 visitors representing 46 states and 14 foreign countries have registered at Center Station this year. Center Station is the major interpretive building within the 5,000-acre Conservation Education Center (CEC) in Land Between the Lakes. Here visitors can see films and displays that tell the recreational and educational story of the area. Hiking trails, Empire Farm, Silo Overlook and a Youth Station for classroom groups are other attractions in the CEC.

For additional information write or phone: John S. Lyon, Reports Editor, Land Between the Lakes, Tennessee Valley Authority, Golden Pond, Kentucky 42231. Phone: Area Code (502) 924-5602.

Game Is Measured By Many Methods

Game management has many tools by which animals and birds in the field are measured. To be sure they aren't 100 per cent correct always, but then who is to refute the figures as given by field men who are closer to game than anyone else. In other words, no one can prove they are wrong.

For instance, in the past deer hunting season many persons were of the opinion that there were more deer hunters who harvested more game this year than last year. Until the final figures are tabulated, and projected through a special mechanism service furnished the Department by the North Carolina State University this summation of field men will have to stand.

This approximately 27,000 hunters is a far cry from the 11,970 who purchased tags in 1961 and who bagged a total of 2,710 deer. Percentage wise this 1961 season was not greatly different from the 1968 harvest.

Year by year the number of hunters has increased as the territory over which they could hunt was expanded. For instance this season just past, gun deer hunting was permitted in all but 22 of the state's 120 counties.

The number of hunters has increased by about 10,000 from the 1964 season. That year 17,242 tags were sold and Department employees believed that maybe that would be about the top figure for deer hunters in this state ever. Of course this has proved baseless, as the following years showed a steady increase in the number of hunters. During that 1964 season the approximately 17,000 hunters took almost 5,000 deer and this was one of the higher percentage years. About 30 per cent of the hunters were successful. It's too early to tell too much about the season that has just concluded, but the fellows in the field are pretty well agreed that it was a good season. Of course their "guesstimation" will be proved or disproved after many months of data gathering and after the "monster" projects those figures arrived at by biologists for the state as a whole. It will be most interesting to see those results.

But now down to the dollars and cents angle of deer in Kentucky. To be sure it costs the license buyers a good deal of money to perpetuate a deer herd. It actually costs more than it should when one considers that a lot of thieves take deer by spotlighting at night without having to pay one cent. But, say the average deer will dress out at 100 pounds, which we believe is a consecutive figure, then the kill of 6,400 deer would mean 640,000 pounds of meat.

LIMIT YOUR KILL
Don't Kill Your Limit

Randy Dodd (left) and Jerry Allen are shown with the 219 pound, 14-point buck shot by Allen in Area 2 of the Land Between the Lakes. Allen hunted with a shotgun loaded with slugs.

Hess Darnell of Farmington took this 198 pound 11-point buck in Area 4 of the Land Between the Lakes with a 30.06 rifle.

Traffic 'lights' for the blind

ALICANTE, Spain (UPI) — Four special traffic lights for blind people have been put in operation and officials claim they are the first in the world.

The lights, which flash the usual red, yellow and green for the sighted, are equipped with a carillon which emits music three seconds after the green light goes on. The first "audio-traffic lights" have been set up in the area of the local headquarters of the National Blind People Association.

'Roadless' Norwegians

OSLO (UPI) — About 30,000 Norwegians live in rural communities with no road connections with the outside world, according to the Ministry of Communications, but the situation is being alleviated, says the Ministry of Communications.

The number of "roadless" Norwegians has been reduced about 20,000 in the last two years and the Ministry says it is expected the problem will be eliminated in a comparatively short time.

Interest Rate Decrease To Take Long Time, Kennedy

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy predicts it will be a long time before interest rates fall back to the pre-inflation levels of three or four years ago.

But it will not take a recession, Kennedy said, to produce lower interest rates or a lessening of any of the other inflationary ailments.

Kennedy, in a UPI "Washington Window" interview, said he could not offer a date when the Nixon administration's battle against inflation will be won. But when that time finally does come, he said, interest rates should begin to fall.

He was asked if the day of the 5 1/2 per cent mortgage was gone forever. "Forever is a long time," he said, "and I would say that it would not be gone forever. I think it will be a long time before they are back in that range."

A Gradual Program Kennedy said he did not foresee a recession because "Our program is a gradual program of control of inflation which will bring an orderly adjustment in conditions, and we have so much basic strength in our economy."

"I don't look for any real downturn," he added. "We may have a temporary period of adjustment."

"In any period of control or in any period where you're reducing demand you have adjustments and I think that there will be some adjustments necessary and will take place," he said. "I don't think there'll be serious unemployment. I think it can be done without that."

"I think that a good case could be made for standby power in the federal reserve to regulate consumer credit," he said. "This would require time and effort and I don't think in the current situation it could be achieved in time to do much good."

Kennedy also said some congressional spending plans are threatening to disturb the administration's fight against inflation.

"Many items that are already in the Congress, some already have passed the House, some have passed the Senate, which in total would increase government expenditures by $5 billion," Kennedy said. "Well, that we cannot tolerate. That's too large an amount and it would upset our whole inflation program."

ASC Services Administered By Committee

By Lowell Palmer

At the State and County level the function and responsibilities of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) as well as those of the Community Credit Corporation (CCC) are administered by State, County and Community (ASC) Committees.

ASC State Committees include three to five members appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture. In addition in each state the Director of the Agricultural Extension Service is an ex officio member of the committee.

The present members of the Kentucky State Committee appointed by Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, are: Jack Welch, Chairman; Paul Fugus, Member; Douglas Evans, Member and Charles Barnhart, ex officio member. The State Committee appoints a State Executive Director who supervises the work of the state office staff.

The ASC County Committees — one in each "Agricultural" County have three farmer members elected by farmer elected delegates to a County Convention. Since 1966 one committeeman is elected each year with two committeemen being held over. The County Agricultural Extension Agent is an ex officio member of the Committee. The members of the Calloway County Committee are: Ollie C. Hall, Chairman; Glenn Crawford, Vice-Chairman; N. E. Cohoon, Member and Ted Howard, ex officio member.

The County ASC Committee employs a County Executive Director who, for the Committee, employs the necessary employees for office and field work and sees that the day to day office and field work is effectively and efficiently performed. The Calloway County ASC Office employees are: Lowell Palmer, County Executive Director; Kathleen C. Outland, Martha Sue Frizzell, Laveda M. Brandon, Mildred Robertson, G. B. Churchill and J. H. Perkins Program Assistants.

To assist the County Committee in carrying out Program administrations three farmers are elected annually as Community Committeemen for each designated community within the County. Calloway County is divided into seven communities. The boundary lines for each community being the old magisterial district boundary lines. Community Committees are elected by the farmers in their respective community. The elected community committees are delegates to the County convention and elect the County Committee. ASC Communities and elected Committees are as follows: A-Murray: Allen C. Wells, Chairman; Clovis Byerly, Vice-Chairman; A. A. Doherty, Member; B-Concord: W. T. Kingins, Chairman; James G. Wilson, Vice-Chairman; E-Rule Smith, Member; C-Liberty: Clyde Phelps, Chairman; P. D. Lovett, Vice-Chairman; R. H. Willoughby, Member; D-Brinkley: Sherwood Potts, Chairman; Woodrow Norsworthy, Vice-Chairman; Perry Harrison, Member; E-Swain: Osro Butterworth, Chairman; Carroll M. Rogers, Vice-Chairman; C-Eugene Jones, Member; F-Wadesboro: Melvin Young, Chairman; O. L. Cain, Jr., Vice-Chairman; Clinton Burchett, Member; G-Hazel: Paul Blalock, Chairman; Charles Outland, Vice-Chairman; James E. Erwin, Member.

The offices maintained by the Committees are the farmer's local contact for business connected with participation in programs administered by the county committee.

Currently the Calloway County ASC Committee administers the following programs: Acreage allotments & Marketing Quotas (Tobacco & Cotton), The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), The Cotton diversion Program, The Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP), The Cropland Conversion Program (CCP), Disaster Programs such as tornado damage, emergency grazing or haying of land under land retirement programs, the Feed Grain and Wheat Programs, Commodity (Corn, soybeans, etc.) Loans & Purchases, The CCC Storage Facility Program, The Wool Incentive Program.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

SAIGON — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, commenting on the alleged Song My massacre:

"If what happened, according to the press, is true, I will condemn the act."

LONDON — The Times of London, reporting it has handed over evidence of alleged corruption in Scotland Yard:

"We have, we believe, proved that at least three detectives are taking large sums of money in exchange for dropping charges, for being lenient in court and for allowing a criminal to work unhindered."

TEL AVIV — Israeli Premier Golda Meir, speaking to a group of Israeli editors:

"If we want to survive, we must live and act in the knowledge that it may take a long time before the nation can live in peace."

CHICAGO — Deputy Police Supt. James M. Rochford, describing a clash between police and demonstrators during the 1968 Democratic national convention, while testifying in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial:

"There was a sea of people. The noise was thundering... There was spitting, shoving, pushing and fighting... The mob was throwing missiles of every conceivable type... cherry bombs, firecrackers, bottles, rocks, clubs, sticks, balls and nails, rocks with spikes."

It's Jimmy and Hank—Together Again! Don't Laugh, Podner—But They Went Which-Away?

By ARMY ARCHERD

Central Press Association Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — I accused Jimmy Stewart of making, of all things—a "comedy western." He refuted, he wouldn't do no such thing, suh, "Jes" call this a western with humor," he insisted.

"I never felt that you could make a picture about the West and make fun of it," Jimmy said seriously.

"What about 'Destry'?" "Well," he drawled, "that's just one where the sheriff wouldn't use a gun."

As for the current outdoor epic, "Cheyenne Social Club," Jimmy hopes the humor and the intent of the western work out O.K. But, he insisted, "We don't make fun of the 'good guys' and the 'bad guys.' It's just the humor that comes out of the situations."

A LOT of sex also will come out of these "situations," we should add. In the film, Jimmy and Henry Fonda are a pair of cowpokes working on a Texas ranch when Stewart receives a letter advising he just inherited "The Cheyenne Social Club" from his deceased brother.

The pair take off for Cheyenne on their ponies and after riding 1,000 miles, Jimmy is shocked (as only he can be) to find what he really inherited is a—borello.

Stewart wants to fire the girls and turn it into a boarding house or something like that. Then the fun begins. I guess you could say the comedy begins, without getting the western aficionados too riled up.

BY THE WAY, the madam of the house is played by Shirley Jones, who, you may recall, won an Oscar playing a prostitute in "Elmer Gantry." "I suppose," Shirley laughed, "you could say I was getting up in the world." Hmm?

I asked Stewart how he, a veteran of westerns (17 or 18,

Jimmy Stewart's surprise is genuine—in this film scene he has just learned he has inherited this group of beauties in a "non-comedy" western. "Non-comedy" — hmmm!

he believes), liked working with Gene Kelly, who was directing his first western.

"Gene and I were both under contract to MGM for many, many years, during the 'golden era' of motion pictures," he recalled. "And Hank Fonda and I have been friends for 40 years. So it was like 'old home week.'"

"I've been close to Gene's career since he started in Hollywood over 27 years ago. I've watched a dedicated man work at his craft with all the expertise of a perfectionist. That's what Gene is. And he gets what he's after."

"Gene does his 'homework' as a director, comes prepared and is in complete command. He knows what he wants from his people and gets it—whether it's a musical like 'Hello Dolly,' or a western."

"Of course, I think a couple of 'old timers' like Hank and myself can be a great help to a director, not only Kelly, but any director. Through the years we acquire and offer a certain amount of know-how to our profession and the least amount of resistance to direction."

"On the other side of the coin, Gene has been a star for 27 years and displays a tremendous amount of understanding and compassion for his actors. I know Gene is a good director, he's a GREAT director. I'd love to do more pictures with him, any time—any kind."

DIRECTOR KELLY, in rumpled sports shirt, old slacks, beaten up dance shoes and cap, gives you little time when he's directing a film. He's too busy—and acts like he's a non-entity on the set. "You don't want to talk to me," he always kids us when we approach him on films he's directing. "Talk to the important people—the actors." But we pressed on to find out his impressions about directing his first western.

"WHAT'S to do with a couple of vets like Jimmy and Hank," he asked? "You just tell them where you want the horses, they do all the rest!"

"These guys are real pros, superstars for 35 years and still going strong. To me, a star is based on longevity. Unfortunately, today the term 'star' is applied to actors who make one or two financially successful pictures and then can't get a job."

"Not Jimmy and Hank. They are so great they are making me look good as a director in my first western. Superstars, sure, that's what I'm working with."

Looks like we walked in on the "Cheyenne Mutual Admiration Society" instead of the "Cheyenne Social Club!"
